Polymer Solutions International introduces a one-piece metric 4 pocket Prostack™ Modular HOD bottled water rack system.

Polymer Solutions International has recently introduced a one-piece metric 4 pocket Prostack all plastic modular bottled water rack system for the HOD bottlers.

The new one piece metric 4 pocket Prostack™ improvements include a first ever pallet-free option for customers who would like all the benefits of the Prostack at a lower cost, reduced weight and height. The height reduction alone allows a 17% payload improvement per rack, while giving the drivers the benefit of a much shorter reach height.

Dan Kelly, President of Polymer Solutions, commented: "We introduced the New Metric Prostack™ to give bottlers more options to substantially reduce their transportation costs. The new options will increase the bottler's payload and versatility when loading transport trailers, delivery vans and small route trucks, and greatly improve the working conditions of drivers. In addition, the new Prostack™ will increase warehouse storage capacity over alternative systems by 17%. As the economies all over the world get more competitive, we must continue to follow our path to offer new product improvements that provide real long-term sustainable cost reductions to our customers in as many areas of their operations as possible."

Like the rest of Prostack™ products, the 4 pocket Prostack™ rack allows for additional layers of HOD bottles per stack as compared to other taller plastic rack systems. The lower module height will accommodate 7 layers (56 HOD bottles) to be placed in standard transport trailers. The lower module height and rack strength will also allow HOD operations to stack 3 full racks (16 filled layers) while other systems are rated at only 12 layers. The reduced rack height provides a 25% reduction in necessary warehouse space.
